For security arrangements, cleanliness and upkeep of common areas, the Residents Committee has hired services of private security guards, mali / sweepers and an electrician. The services of the electrician are available free of charge for the existing electrical fittings but residents have to arrange/provide the components/spare parts etc, which are to be replaced. Residents are expected to settle the charges with the electrician, in advance, for any new / additional work. Maintenance of green belts outside the residences is the responsibility of individual house. The common areas / unconstructed plots are looked after by the maintenance staff hired by the Residents Committee.

For the services listed at above (street light billing inclusive) the residents are required to pay the monthly contributions as under. Each separate rented out portion of a house is considered a unit.

|----|--|---------------|-------------------------------|
| a. | Monthly Contributions | B Type House- | Rs.1300/- per month per unit. |
| | | C Type House- | Rs.1200/- per month per unit. |
| | | D Type House- | Rs.1100/- per month per unit. |
| b. | Allottees of plots (unconstructed) are required to pay monthly contributions at 50% rates. | | |

For Cable TV network a member is required to pay initial connection charges (if not already installed) and subsequently monthly subscriptions as fixed by the service provider.

Little bit on the social side . NHS Islamabad is the finest example of a community living. Due to its smallness in size, everyone knows each other even to the extent that the family members are also known to each other. Therefore, everyone in NHS feels like being a part of the big family. Therefore, everyone is there to share the joys and moments of sorrow. It's a tradition that nearly all resident are invited to the wedding functions of the children of NHS residents and all do attend without fail.

Similarly, in the event of any mishap / death etc all the resident make themselves available and as a tradition a floral wreath is laid by the Residents Committee at the time of burial of the deceased.
